WHAT IS SETI?

The Faculty Academic Support Through Technology Commitee's Summer Educational Technology Institute will feature demonstrations and workshops for how to effectively use instructional technology in the learning environment. Many sessions will be led by faculty employing "best practices" technology techniques in a variety of disciplines. Vendors will be on hand to display the latest hardware & software for instructional computing, multimedia, distance learning, and web authoring.

The Faculty Academic Support Through Technology Commitee's Summer Educational Technology Institute will be held Thursday & Friday, June 15 & 16, 2000 located within the NET Building Northeastern State University Tahlequah, Oklahoma
