Orientation^TOP

All beginning freshmen are required to enroll in UNIV 1002 (University Strategies) as a part of the first semester class load. This course carries two semester credit hours and is comprised of two freshmen success components; the University Strategies orientation program held the week before school starts and the University Strategies class that meets the entire first semester. Together, these two programs are designed to ease the transition to NSU and explain the concept of higher education by providing specific information pertaining to campus life and the varied problems which freshmen encounter while beginning their college careers.

All beginning freshmen are advised through the First-Year Experience Center until a major field of study is chosen. When the student has chosen a major field of study, the declaration of major is processed through The First-Year Experience Center for assignment to a major division. After such assignment has been completed, students will go to the College Department Chair of their major college for assignment to an academic advisor.
